

"12 Tips To Improve Your Relationships"

Your face is a road map of your mind. Your Face shows your personality and destiny.

FACE READING is an easy simple method of understanding yourself and everyone. Knowing the personality behind the face, you can approach your customer (everyone) according to their personality. Here are some hints to help you. So keep an open mind!

1. If your partner's lower eye lids straighten out, they are tuning you out. Start over.
2. If your partner has a small mouth, be brief, concise, and to the point.
3. If your partner has a long straight nose, be clear, logical, and stick to the facts.
4. If your partner has a turned-up (ski jump) nose, they respond to emotion. Show them how good your products/services will make them feel.
5. If your partner has an arched (hook nose), they appreciate beauty and creative new approaches. Be willing to listen to and appreciate their ideas and creative solutions. They like to have others implement their ideas.
6. If your partner has high round pencil-thin eyebrows, they need reassurance. They want to be above reproach. Sincere compliments will pave the way. Don't rush them. They may be self-conscious.
7. If your partner has eyes that slant up, they are optimistic. Show them how great it will be. They expect everything to work out well.
8. If your partner has a mouth that turns down, they are wary of what others tell them. It will be helpful to make a very balanced pitch by pointing out a few flaws or showing other alternatives to what you want. Your unexpected candor will help gain their trust.
9. If your partner has a bigger upper lip, it's important to be authentic. These people connect less to what you say and more to who you are. A slick proposal may sound phony, and they can quickly spot deception. Relax and be yourself.

10. If your partner has angled/shaped curved eyebrows, ask for their opinion and how you can assist them. Let them know their opinions are important. Allow them to feel in control.

11. If your partner's eyes slant down, they are looking for problems. Don't be too enthusiastic, and refrain from being jovial. To them life is serious.

12. If your partner has a diamond shaped face, you must get to the point, especially if they also have high placed ears. They don't have time to waste and can be very impatient.

Try these tips with everyone you meet. Your Communications will improve.

© copyright by Kathy Thompson

For more info about Face Reading:

www.kathycommunicates.com/face-reading

www.facebook.com/facereading4U

www.facebook.com/lovmakingsecrets

Communicate Better Now

www.kathycommunicates.com/19tips

Your Personal Face Reading

www.kathycommunicates.com/FPQ